Good Morning, Parents & Carers

You will be aware that regular school attendance is key to supporting your child to be the best learner they can be, but as the weather turns colder and more bugs are doing the rounds, it can be hard to know when to send your child into school.

The NHS and UKHSA have produced some helpful guidance for parents on what to do in various illness scenarios, and how to keep your child healthy so they don't miss school. Please see attached poster and link to help you in deciding what to do.

Thank you for ensuring your child is in school as much as possible to support with their continued education.

Yours sincerely
